ETMarkets Smart Talk: Constructive on India story but equity markets have to deal with these 3 headwinds in 2023: Niraj Kumar

However, we remain wary of the valuations in the near term and hence our cautious view on the sector.

*“The foremost headwind is going to emerge from the asset allocation decision of the global money managers. With fixed income offering lucrative yields we anticipate movement of funds from Equities to Fixed Income,” says Niraj Kumar, Chief Investment Officer, Future Generali India Life Insurance Company Ltd.

In an interview with ETMarkets, Kumar said:

“While we remain constructive from the medium-to-long-term perspective, we believe the markets will have to navigate a few headwinds in the near-term,”
Edited excerpts:

While the Indian market has remained resilient amid global volatility and the Adani story. Where do you see markets headed? Any near-term headwinds that investors should watch out for?
