To clearly understand how maturity benefit works, let us take a look at Ankit's story.

Ankit is 35 years old and has chosen to invest in Future Generali Dhan Vridhi Plan, with a Policy Term of 20 years, an annual premium of Rs. 2,00,000 for 10 years. His Death Benefit Multiple is 10 times and a Sum Assured (cover amount) of Rs. 20,00,000.

These rates are not guaranteed, and they are not the upper or lower limits of returns of the Funds selected in your policy, as the performance of funds depends on several factors including future investment performance. These rates in no way signify our expectations of future returns and the actual returns may be higher or lower.

Death Benefit

In case of an unfortunate event of death of life assured, while the policy is in force during the policy term, higher of

- Sum assured less deductible partial withdrawal, if any
- Fund Value
- 105% of total premiums paid under the base product (including top-up premiums paid, if any) till date of death less deductible partial withdrawals, if any is payable.
